Mamata Dares PM Modi To Hold Elections Tomorrow: 'We Are Ready, Bengal Is Ready'

(Gns).

With less than a year to go before the West Bengal Assembly elections, Prime Minister Narendra Modi intensified the political atmosphere by launching a sharp attack on the Mamata Banerjee-led Trinamool Congress (TMC) government at a rally in Alipurduar.

He branded the administration as "nirmam" (cruel) and corrupt, claiming that the people of the state are "crying out for change".

Responding to the Prime Minister's remarks, Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee expressed shock, stating that she did not expect such comments, particularly at a time when all-party delegations are travelling abroad to promote unity and convey India's stance of zero tolerance for terrorism following the Pahalgam terror attack and Operation Sindoor.

She challenged the Prime Minister to hold Assembly elections immediately, asserting "The people of Bengal are with us."

Addressing the rally on Thursday, PM Modi referred to the communal violence in Murshidabad and Malda during protests against the Waqf Act, describing it as a stark indication of the TMC government's "indifference" to public suffering.

According to him, West Bengal is facing multiple simultaneous crises.

"We have a crisis of violence and anarchy spreading in society. The second crisis is the safety of our mothers and sisters, who are being subjected to heinous crimes. The third is the extreme despair and rampant unemployment spreading among the youth.

The fourth crisis is the continuously declining trust in the system, and the fifth is the selfish politics of the ruling party, which steals the rights of the poor," he declared.

Turning his attention to the teacher recruitment scam - which resulted in over 25,000 teachers losing their jobs - PM Modi said it had devastated thousands of families.

"The teacher recruitment scam is an example of corruption ruining everything. The TMC government destroyed the future and families of thousands of teachers, and left their children helpless. The absence of teachers has put the futures of lakhs of students at risk...

(Gns).

Union Home Minister Amit Shah on Thursday evening arrived here on a two-day visit to review the security situation in J&K and also visit the border town of Poonch where several civilians were killed due to the recent indiscriminate shelling by Pakistani troops.

He was received at the airport by the Lt. Governor Manoj Sinha, Chief Secretary Atul Dulloo and senior officers.

Union Minister Dr. Jitendra Singh accompanied the home minister.

After reaching here, the home minister drove to the Raj Bhavan where in a high-level meeting he will review the security situa-

top brass of the Army, paramilitary forces, Jammu and Kashmir Police, civil administration, and Intelligence agencies.

August.

This year, security for Amarnath yatis will be heightened in light of the Pahalgam terror attack.

The meeting will also discuss infiltration, counter-terror operations, and follow-up on security measures taken after the last meeting.

This is his first visit to the region since Operation Sindoor was conducted by the Indian Armed Forces to retaliate against the 22 April Pahalgam attack that left 25 tourists and a local dead.

Shah is expected to fly to Poonch tomorrow. He will meet kin of those killed in Pakistani shelling and hand over job appointment letters to the victims.

Congress Vs Shashi Tharoor Strife Deepens: Party Says He's Part Of Family, MP Hits Out At Critics

(Gns).

For "zealots" fulminating about his supposed ignorance of Indian valour across the LoC, he was "clearly and explicitly" speaking only about reprisals for terrorist attacks and not about previous wars, the Thiruvananthapuram MP said in a post on X from Panama City on Thursday morning. Critics and trolls were welcome to distort his views and words as they see fit but he genuinely has "better things to do", he said.

Trying to pacify frayed tempers, Congress general secretary Randeep Surjewala said there is no acrimony among leaders of the party.

"Shashi Tharoor is a senior Congress leader and very much part of the Congress family. However, what he said about the surgical strike was factually incorrect," Surjewala told reporters.

"The Congress party only corrected the record by pointing out that the surgical strike on Pakistan and also at other places on the den of terrorists were regularly executed during Congress-led UPA government to give a befitting reply to terrorists by our armed forces and the then Congress Government," he added when questioned on the war of words between some Congress leaders and Tharoor.

Instances of surgical strikes during the Congress-led UPA government have been detailed in the past by the AICC Communication department and by Tharoor himself in his 2018 book 'The Paradoxical Prime Minister', the Congress leader said.

"Even former prime minister Dr Manmohan Singh in the past spoke about these surgical strikes. Mr Jairam Ramesh and Pawan Khara have set the record straight. It should not be matter of any acrimony or doubt," Surjewala said.

Tharoor has come under stringent criticism by several Congress leaders, including media and publicity department head Pawan Khara and party leader Udit Raj, for not mentioning surgical strikes against Pakistan during the UPA government in his presentations abroad.

Udit Raj said he should be made a "super spokesperson of the BJP".

The Congress' digs continued on Thursday with Raj saying what the Kerala MP had said was a "lie and a conspiracy to destroy the Congress".

Rajnath Singh lauds role of women soldiers during Op Sindoor

(Gns).

Women pilots and other female soldiers played a crucial role in the effective action taken by India against terrorism in Pakistan and PoK during Operation Sindoor, said Defence Minister Rajnath Singh on Thursday.

The minister, while addressing the flag-in ceremony of INSV Tarini in Goa, said ever since the participation of women in the Armed Forces has increased, they have performed exceptionally well in every role and fulfilled every responsibility.

"From the heights of Siachen to the depths of the ocean, Indian women are fulfilling many responsibilities, which has further bolstered the security circle of the country. Today, the doors of Sainik Schools are open for girls and 17 women are passing out from National Defence Academy this month.

Operation Sindoor witnessed active and effective participation of women in every branch of the Indian Armed Forces," Singh, according to an official release said.

Lauding two brave Indian Navy Women officers — Lt Cdr Dilna K and Lt Cdr Roopa A, who have returned home after successful completion of 'Navika Sagar Parikrama II', the minister commended their courage, commitment and endurance in completing the historic circumnavigation expedition.

He termed their voyage as the epitome of 'Nari

Shakti' (woman power).

The duo, in the second edition of the expedition, has become the first from India to accomplish such a feat in double-handed mode.

The officers covered a distance of 25,600 nautical miles over a period of eight months with port calls at Fremantle (Australia), Lyttleton (New Zealand), Port Stanley (Falkland Islands) and Cape Town (South Africa).

Singh praised the duo for facing physical and mental obstacles head on, overcoming them with strength and proving to the world that they are the brave daughters of India.

He said the two women officers have made India proud by holding high the Tricolour all over the world. "You must document the experiences of this journey with the same spirit with which you completed it. Record your bitter-sweet experiences and learnings so that the future generation, especially our young women, are inspired by it," the minister told the courageous duo.

Union Minister Joshi visited Diu today to review its remarkable progress in solar energy adoption and assess the implementation of the PM-Surya Ghar: Muft Bijli Yojana.

The Minister chaired a high-level meeting at Diu, with senior officials of the UT administration to review the status of solar energy generation, its current supply framework, and future expansion prospects. During the meeting, Shri T. Arun, Energy Secretary of the Union Territory of Dadra and Nagar Haveli and Daman and Diu, made a detailed presentation on existing solar energy plants, their production capacities, and household-level benefits. He informed the Minister that a large number of families in the UT are now availing the benefits of solar energy.

The meeting was also attended by Diu Collector Dr. Vivek Kumar, Deputy senior officials.

The Minister noted that the Fudam solar park has contributed significantly to reducing transmission and distribution (T&D) losses and enabled the revision of electricity tariffs, making them more affordable for consumers. He also praised the leadership of the UT Administrator Shri Praful Patel, stating that his proactive approach and vision have been instrumental in realising this clean energy transformation.

Speaking on the long-term impact, the Minister remarked that the capital investments made over the past decade in renewable energy infrastructure in Diu have already been recovered through the supply and sale of solar power. He called for even faster and more effective implementation of the PM-Surya Ghar Yojana to maximise its benefits for the residents of the Union Territory and achieve total household saturation.

Is Vijay's TVK Considering Joining Hands With AIADMK-BJP Alliance?

(Gns).

Is Vijay's Tamilaga Vetttri Kazhagam (TVK) seriously considering joining the AIADMK-led alliance in Tamil Nadu? There are hints of the concerned parties trying hard to convince the actor to join the force to unseat the DMK in the next year polls.

AIADMK and BJP's Reaction

Speaking to reporters recently, former AIADMK Minister and Kovilpatti MLA Kadambur C. Raju said: "Mr. Vijay also shares the AIADMK's view that the DMK is anti-people and needs to be removed from power. There is still one year to go before the elections and the alliance would take final shape only in January. It would not be surprising if like-minded political parties come together with the shared goal of unseating the DMK."

Similarly, BJP State president Nainar Nagenthiran has repeatedly claimed that the parties should join hands despite differences to defeat the DMK in 2026 assembly polls. Also, senior leader Tamilisai Soundararajan has given a positive response to the reports of the TVK joining the NDA.

These comments are seen as an attempt to woo Vijay in order to bring him to the NDA fold, political observers say.

Responding to the AIADMK-BJP alliance, TVK propaganda secretary A Rajmohan had earlier said as per The Hindu: "To defeat the DMK, our party would align only with the people and certainly not with a party that has joined hands with a fascist force."

Nonetheless, he made it clear that the TVK was open to alliances with any party except the DMK and the BJP.

The polls for the 234 assembly seats in Tamil Nadu will be held next year. In 2021, the DMK had defeated the AIADMK-BJP alliance.

While Vijay has not made critical comments about the AIADMK, he has clearly stated that the DMK as its political enemy and the BJP as its ideological enemy and he would never have alliance with these partners.

As the AIADMK rejoined the NDA earlier this year, it has to be seen whether Vijay will join hands with the NDA.

MEA Denies Trump's Claims Of Trade Talks And Mediation In India-Pakistan Ceasefire

(Gns).

The Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) has once again categorically denied U.S. President Donald Trump's repeated claims that he mediated a ceasefire between India and Pakistan following Operation Sindoor, or that trade discussions played any part in the diplomatic exchanges.

In a media briefing held on Thursday, MEA spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal reiterated that no conversation regarding trade or tariffs took place between Indian and American officials in the wake of Operation Sindoor, which began on May 7 and targeted terror camps in Pakistan and Pakistan-occupied Kashmir (PoK). Jaiswal emphasized, "I refer you to the position made clear on May 13. Since the launch of Operation Sindoor, trade or tariff-related matters were never brought up in any of the communications. External Affairs Minister Dr. S. Jaishankar had also clarified that the ceasefire was established directly through the DGMOs."

He further stated that endorsing such scenarios might ultimately harm their own regional security," he had said.

These remarks came after President Trump claimed multiple times that he was instrumental in bringing about the ceasefire between the two South Asian nations, linking the diplomatic breakthrough to his trade negotiations with both India and Pakistan.

Following the ceasefire announcement last week, Trump posted on Truth Social: "After a long night of talks mediated by the United States, I am pleased to announce that India and Pakistan have agreed to a full and immediate cease-fire. Congratulations to both countries on using common sense and great intelligence. Thank you for your attention to this matter!"

He also described the development as a major diplomatic achievement, asserting that he had averted a potential nuclear confrontation. Trump even went as far as to say he hoped to see the leaders of India and Pakistan "dining together in peace."

However, Indian officials have consistently maintained that the ceasefire was the result of a direct and bilateral military-level agreement between New Delhi and Islamabad. They have denied the involvement of any third party and clarified that the de-escalation had no link to ongoing or proposed trade negotiations with the United States.

According to earlier reports by CNN-News18, government sources confirmed that no mention of trade occurred during top-level talks between Indian and U.S. leaders during the India-Pakistan conflict.

The request for ceasefire came from Islamabad, specifically from Pakistan's Director-General of Military Operations (DGMO), who reached out to his Indian counterpart. Jaiswal made it clear that there was "no American intervention during Operation Sindoor."

Earlier, during the May 13 press briefing, Jaiswal had underlined India's position on not succumbing to nuclear intimidation and made it clear that cross-border terrorism could not be justified by threats of nuclear escalation. "In our engagements with various countries, we warned that

Bengaluru Man Turns Thief To Maintain 3 Wives, 9 Children; Arrested

(Gns).

A 36-year-old man, who became a thief to take care of his three wives and nine children, has been arrested in Bengaluru, a police officer said on Thursday.

Police recovered 188 grams of gold ornaments, 550 grams of silver ornaments and Rs 1,500 in cash from Babajaan, he added.

A case has been registered at the Electronic City police station in Bengaluru.

"With the arrest, we have solved eight theft cases," the officer told PTI.

"It's difficult for him to maintain the family. So he became a thief. This is how it appears prima facie," he added.

According to him, his wives are in Shikaripalya near Anekal on the outskirts of Bengaluru, Chikkaballapura and Srirangapatna.

"He is in contact with all the three wives and nine children and he is one who is taking care of all of them. He has become a professional thief," the officer said.

Trouble In Paradise? BRS Crisis Deepens As Kavitha Questions KTR, Junks BJP Merger, Reaffirms Loyalty To KCR

(Gns).

Telangana's regional party, the Bharat Rashtra Samithi (BRS), is facing internal turmoil, with a leadership tussle unfolding between former chief minister K Chandrashekar Rao's (KCR's) children.

His daughter, K Kavitha, took a veiled swipe at her brother and BRS working president, K T Rama Rao (KTR), during a media interaction on Thursday morning.

Kavitha has been in the spotlight following the leak of a letter she had written to KCR on 2 May, reported The Indian Express.

In the letter, which surfaced in mid-May, she criticised her father for failing to confront the BJP in the state.

Currently, the Congress holds power in Telangana, with both the BRS and BJP in opposition.

Speaking to the press, Kavitha stated, "I have only one leader, that is KCR. I will work only under one leader, that is KCR."

Without explicitly naming her brother, she accused some within the party of attempting to facilitate a merger with the BJP.

"An offer was made to merge BRS with BJP when I was in prison. I said a resounding 'No' to it at that time because BRS is a regional party which should be alive to represent and safeguard the concerns of Telangana people," she revealed.

Kavitha was arrested in March last year by the Enforcement Directorate and later by the CBI in connection with the alleged Delhi excise policy scam. She spent five months in custody before securing bail.

She went on to claim that "covert operatives in the party" were working against her, despite her continued loyalty to the organisation.

Kavitha, who heads the party's women's wing and serves as a Member of the Legislative Council, criticised the party's recent inactivity.

"The party's activities are being limited to Twitter posts," she said.

She questioned the lack of public mobilisation when her father was summoned by a Congress-appointed inquiry committee investigating alleged irregularities in the Kaleshwaram Lift Irrigation Project, which was undertaken during the BRS government's tenure.

Again, without naming KTR, she claimed that she was being targeted by "some sections in the party" for being honest.

"Is there anything in my letter which was untrue or unreasonable?" she asked.

She also addressed the accusations that she herself had leaked the letter, insisting that the real culprits should be held accountable.

"There should be some sort of accountability. Those who leaked the letter should face the music," she said.

In response to allegations that she is receiving support from rival parties to undermine the BRS, she dismissed such claims.

"It is being alleged that the Congress is giving me support. It is absolutely untrue. I do not do covert politics. I speak my heart as I am doing right now," she declared.

While KTR has remained mostly quiet on the letter controversy, he previously stated that "there is internal party democracy" and that "anyone can write letters to KCR."

To this, Kavitha responded, "Someone has declared that there is democracy within the party. Then why is the girl child of the house (Kalvakuntla family home) being dragged through the muck because she wrote a letter? I have written over a hundred letters to my father and party president, as that is my way of operating within the party."

Her press conference coincided with KTR's foreign tour aimed at drumming up support for the BRS.

Regarding her brother's travels, Kavitha remarked, "What is being celebrated abroad when there is no grassroots mobilisation for the party in Telangana?"

Asaduddin Owaisi Slams Pakistan In Saudi: 'Stop Using Islam To Justify Terror'

(Gns).

AIMIM chief and Hyderabad MP Asaduddin Owaisi has firmly pushed back against Pakistan's repeated attempts to portray its conflict with India as a religious issue, asserting that India is home to over 240 million proud Muslims. Speaking in Saudi Arabia during an interaction, Owaisi emphasized that Indian Muslims are deeply rooted in the country and enjoy a strong presence, including many renowned Islamic scholars fluent in Arabic.

Owaisi is part of an Indian parliamentary delegation visiting Saudi Arabia as part of a broader global outreach following the Pahalgam terror attack and Operation Sindoor. In his remarks, he criticized Pakistan for spreading misleading narratives in the Arab world and Muslim nations, claiming that Pakistan wrongly projects itself as the sole Muslim representative while falsely suggesting India is hostile to Muslims.

Asaduddin Owaisi Slams Pakistan In Saudi Stop Using Islam To Justify Terror

"It is unfortunate that Pakistan gives a wrong message to the Arab and Muslim world. There are 240 million proud Indian Muslims. Our scholars are among the best globally, highly proficient in Arabic. Pakistan's narrative that it is being targeted for being the Indian military's targeted strikes on nine Pakistani airbases and terrorist headquarters, calling it a calculated warning rather than full retaliation. He also condemned the Pakistani military's ties to designated terrorists, pointing out a U.S.-listed terrorist leading prayers for dead militants and another seen alongside Pakistan's army chief.

Calling for Pakistan to be re-listed on the FATF grey list, Owaisi stressed this step was crucial to disrupting terror financing. He referenced the post-26/11 investigation when India provided evidence to Pakistan, which only acted when placed on the FATF grey list. He concluded that key figures like Sajid Mir remain unpunished for terrorism and were only convicted for unrelated financial crimes.

Referring to the events of May 9 under Operation Sindoor, Owaisi highlighted

Harvard Granted One Month Extension In Trump Dispute Over International Student Ban: Reports

(Gns). Harvard University has warned that revoking its ability to enrol international students would affect roughly a quarter of its student population.

On Thursday, a federal judge is set to decide whether to extend a temporary block on the Trump administration's attempt to implement such a measure.

US District Judge Allison Burroughs will review whether to prolong the temporary injunction she issued last Friday, which halted the US Department of Homeland Security (DHS) from enforcing the proposed revocation.

Speaking from the Oval

Office on Wednesday, former President Donald Trump stated that Harvard should impose a 15 per cent limit on the admission of international students.

"Harvard has got to behave themselves," he remarked.

The Trump administration had previously accused Harvard of enabling anti-semitism and violence on campus, as well as collaborating with the Chinese Communist Party.

However, Harvard's legal team described the move as part of an "unprecedented and retaliatory attack on academic freedom" at the institution.

The university is also involved in a separate legal battle over the administration's decision to withdraw $3 billion in federal research grants.

Harvard's lawyers contended that the revocation of the university's certification was carried out suddenly and in violation of federal procedures, which mandate that DHS must provide a valid justification, advance notice, and an opportunity for the institution to respond.

The university further argued that the administration's actions infringed upon its constitutional rights to free speech and due process, as protected under the US Constitution and the Administrative Procedure Act.

According to a Reuters report, DHS regulations require the department to allow a 30-day period for institutions to contest allegations and submit supporting evidence.
